Get Ready For Grand 'Independence Day' Bash In Hyd!

By Venkat Arikatla On August 12, 2009 | UPDATED 05:30 IST

As Indians, we have been living freely today but going back 62 years ago, we used to adjust as per others' instructions. Without having to listen to anyone if we are able to live 'freely' today then the reason for that happens to be the result of the many sacrifices made by the brave hearted freedom fighters.

Today, we are paying homage to a St Valentine who was born on some part of the globe and gave away his life for 'Love', we are following 'Fathers Day' 'Friendship Day' and many other days which have been discovered by someone but then the birthday of our nation, the land that many great souls sacrificed their lives against the British monarchy, the day when Mother India became the 'Tricolor', imagine how grandly that has to be celebrated then.

Does it hold a meaning by just hoisting the flag, distributing chocolates to those around? not really, the special day has to be celebrated in a much grander way.

That's why, for all Indians with an objective of bringing about the 'Unity' feeling the noted website www.idontwantdowry.com has decided to celebrate the 'Independence Day'. For this, it has assembled a total of 11000 youngsters who oppose the evil of dowry system at a particular venue.

The event has been planned on the midnight of 14th August and this tradition was started by www.idontwantdowry.com an year ago. The venue was the famous Shilpa Kala Vedika and the response to that was overwhelming. More than 500 people took part in the event last year and celebrated it just like they celebrate a birthday bash or a New Year bash. With the inspiration and momentum that started a year ago, the same is being planned this year as well.

Celebrating our freedom on its 62nd birthday, let us spare an evening on the 14th of this month. The place to be is Birla Planetarium premises and the time to get there is 9.30 pm. The event will be marked by the presence of Ghazal Srinivas and his songs, patriotic numbers, dance performances and many other forms of entertainment. Many social celebrities and key persons from different walks of life would be taking part in this special celebration. The highlight of the evening would be the presence of the film unit of 'Snehageetham'. So don't miss the opportunity to be a part of a grand and historic moment.
