

January/February/March, 2007

Digital Dharma

January 1, 2007 1,940 Leave a comment

A new generation of young indians want to stand up against the dowry system, but find it hard to tackle that social menace. Satya Naresh, Director of NKG Info Services, has taken the cause to the Internet with his "idontwantdowry " matrimonial site, which he launched in April, 2006. Satya comments: "On average there are three to four dowry deaths in a day in our country. I set up the web site to fight the problem. Of course, I also run the website to make money, but I never move away from my ideals."

For a nominal fee of Rs.500 (us$11.00), potential brides and grooms can register and host their profile on the site for six months with the expectation that no dowry demands will be made to the girl or her family. The site took off immediately with over 2,000 registrations. "We wanted to start a website that benefits society, " Naresh offers. To reach the less affluent, non- net savvy populace, for a mere us$2.25, the web site accepts contact details for insertion in its classified section.

Though mainly catering to women who cannot or who refuse to bring dowry to a match, the web site saw more prospective grooms registering than brides in the days following the launch. Prospective groom, 23-year old software professional Abhinay C., says, "From childhood I hated the idea of being 'bought' by the girl's family for a sum of money. I will continue to be part of this site to keep open my options for meeting an independent girl."

In light of the positive response, Satya says he wants to launch another site aimed at fighting the caste system. See: <http://www.idontwantdowry.com> [<http://www.idontwantdowry.com>]

TEMPLES

LORD MURUGAN'S HILLTOP ABODE

The beloved god of tamil saivites, Lord Murugan, has many centers of great spiritual power in South India and Sri Lanka. Preeminent among them is Palani Hills, a temple

We use cookies on our website to give you the most relevant experience by remembering your preferences and repeat visits. By clicking "Accept All," you consent to the use of ALL the cookies. However, you may visit "Cookie Settings" to provide a controlled consent.

Cookie Settings

Accept All

protected by reCAPTCHA

meanings or symbols and more. Alongside the religious content is plenty of practical information for pilgrims on lodgings, other shrines in the environs and maps. For a touch of the sacred in your life, you can also sponsor an archana. Your name is chanted by the priests of Palani and temple prasadam mailed to you from India.

Previous Post
Diaspora

Next Post
Bharat's Blossoming Business

Leave a Reply

Your name, email and comment may be published in Hinduism Today's "Letters" page in print and online. Required fields are marked *

Name *

Email *

Website

Save my name, email, and website in this browser for the next time I comment.

POST COMMENT

This site uses Akismet to reduce spam. Learn how your comment data is processed.

You May Also Like

THE JANUARY/FEBRUAR
ARTS Y, 2001 Leave a comment 104 views

The Yoga of Song

Hinduism Today January 1, 2001

APRIL/MAY/JUNE,
2011 Leave a comment 307 views

Photo Journalism: The Sadhus of India & Nepal

Hinduism Today April 1, 2011

JULY/AUGUST/SEPTEMBE
R, 2005 Leave a comment 279 views

Knitting Hats in a Peace of Prayer

Hinduism Today July 1, 2005

FACEBOOK

TWITTER

YOUTUBE

INSTAGRAM

Home

Get the App

Terms & Conditions

Privacy Policy

About Us

HINDUISM TODAY®

© 2023 HIMALAYAN ACADEMY PUBLICATIONS. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.